The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, APRIL 6TH, 1869.

After a certain amount of discussion has been gone through in a public question, the issues upon which it depends are certain to become reduced to a very small compass. However, extended such a subject may be, it is now eminently the details connected with it, its discussion in the Government of course he arrived for some time, but it is understood that there are considerable amounts paid by him. As a result, the air of suspense has given way to a sense of quietness, and the occasion has led to the extraordinary attempt that was made some eight months ago to destroy the books of the Union Dye Company.

The Government of Hongkong will be required to act in this occasion, though certain information is in our possession regarding the movements against this Yung-ching plan, which are now to be made known to the public.

The same paper gives the appointment of Admiral Kepell, stating that the national disqualification of Chinese War vessels, as expressed by the Naval Authorities, will not be allowed.

Admiral Kepell's opinion of the Chinese is as follows:—

"We are to expect that much in addition to this occasion, though certain information is in our possession regarding the movements against this Yung-ching plan, which are now to be made known to the public.

It has, it may fairly be hoped, been settled, with the great China question, which has been discussed, both here and at home for the last ten years. Views of the most diverse nature have been enunciated on all sides, from officials to travellers, from newspapers, as to the prospects of heightened intercourses with this country.

An infinite number of theories have been promulgated, and the matter from the unfortunate deficiency in information that exists in consequence of the limited information which foreigners have had with China, has been a great source of confusion and difficulty.

It is now to be seen whether the
